DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

1. Claims 1-8 are pending.
2. Claims 1-8 are rejected.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 98/31710 in view of Bujara et al. WO 98/31710 teaches of a process of forming a finely divided polysaccharide derivative of cellulose by gelling a cellulose ether between 35 to 99 wt. % of water. WO 98/31710 also teaches that the dissolved cellulose derivative is then converted into the solid state in various state of the art ways, such as with a dryer-pulveriser or steam mill drying, (see page 8, lines 11-22 of the translation). WO 98/31710 also disclose of suitable solvents, namely water and hydrocarbons and halogenated hydrocarbons, (see page 7, line s1-6 and page 9, lines 1-8 of the translation). WO 98/31710 also teach of ranges of the superheated solvent, (see page 7, lines 28-32). WO 98/31710 next teaches that of further separation steps to obtain a polysaccharide derivative that have a high bulk density accompanied by good flow properties, (see page 4, lines 22-31).

8. Bujara et al. also disclose of a process of generating water-soluble cellulose derivatives of particulate size, (see Example 1). Bujara et al. teach of the gellation of a cellulose derivative, wherein the water content is between 30 to 80 wt. %, (see page 5, lines 31-39). Bujara et al. also teach of utilizing an impact mill on the cellulose feed, (see page 10, lines 23-35). One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to utilize a variety of mill processes as generically taught by WO 98/31710 and further explicitly taught by Bujara et al. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to substitute the impact mill of Bujara et al. for the process of WO 98/31710, especially when WO 98/31710 teaches the utilization of a variety of mill processes that can be employed for the production of finely particulate cellulose derivatives.
